Scope of the Journal

The journal will publish papers in the theory of stochastic processes and their applications. It will be concerned with ideas and methods, and will be oriented towards a broad spectrum of mathematical, scientific and engineering interests.

The journal will be interested in characterization, structural properties and descriptive distributions of stochastic processes and stochastic systems, limit-theoretic behaviour, robustness of models, and related topics. Also of interest will be papers on stochastic processes dealing with allied questions of inference, optimization, control and reliability.

The journal will be exacting and scholarly in its standards. Every effort will be made, however, to promote innovation, vitality, and communication between disciplines. Review papers will be sought out, and discussion of unresolved problems and potentially fruitful avenues of inquiry will be encouraged.
